DOBE Paper

Introduction and Abstract

Dobecoin is an open-source peer-to-peer digital currency built on the Cardano blockchain, for the tough guys and gals that “don’t take no shiba from inu-one.” The project’s mascot “Muskie” is the Doberman pinscher.

Dobe's mission is to increase the economic freedom of the common person by bringing awareness to cryptocurrency and how it can improve their lives. Regardless of where a person lives in the world, this technology can liberate individuals from financial subjugation and help bring humanity into a new age.

The Realdobecoin Foundation intends to launch an NFT platform powered by Cardano using Dobe as its native token as well as launch an online fan merchandise retail store (T-shirts, hats, sweaters, stickers, etc.). The Realdobecoin Foundation also intends to launch various charitable endeavors to help alleviate hunger and poverty throughout the world.

About Doberman “Musky” Pinscher

Musky is a tough old dog that "don't take no Shiba from Inu-one". Musky has been around since he immigrated to the United States from Germany in the late 1880s. He has been fighting to protect his new home ever since. Musky's illustrious career includes service in the U.S. Marines, professional cage fighting, police officer, and even head of Snoop Dogg's K9 security team. Musky likes to be financially independent because that gives him the freedom to better help and support others. Musky doesn't like other people messing with his bones.

Why Cardano?

Dobecoin is built on the Cardano blockchain, a revolutionary protocol that is many times faster and cheaper than the Ethereum (ETH) protocol. Cardano processes 250 transactions per second (TPS) with an average cost of $0.47 compared to 15 transactions per second with Ethereum and having an average transaction cost of $90.64. The Cardano protocol also allows users to use other native tokens when paying gas fees instead of having to use Cardano (ADA). This option is not possible with Ethereum given that each wallet needs to have some ETH in order to pay gas fees to move tokens. Ultimately, we chose Cardano because of its fast and cheap transactions as well as its interoperability with other blockchains.
